Representatives of the country news papers who testified at the commission's hearing to-day all recounted their diffiutities in seguring paper. They said they were obliged to pay from 4.50 to 8 cents a pound in the open market and that in some cases the price offered went up to 10 cents a pound. The impression seemed to prevail among them that the paper manufacturers were looking after the interests of the large newspapers first and that the smaller papers were left largely to shift for themselves. Statistics made public by the commission show that recent renewals of contracts for 1,000 tons and more have ranged from $3 to $3.50 a hundred, and market prices have been reported as high as $10.

Counsel for the News Print Manufacturers Association, which controls a large share of the output, declared it had been imp output, declared it had been impossible to analyze in so short a time statistical facts presented by the commission's investigators at the outset of the hearing, that the chief complaint was from small publishers unable to get paper because of the increased demand, and that the manufacturers after conferring had decided they were open to any proposal for an equitable distribution of their product.

Agreement to Cooperate.

At first there was an inclination on the part of some of the publishers pres-ent to hold back on the ground that disand that high prices and greater produc tion were more important questions.
